PLATE PRINTERS VOICE TO MAINTAIN STAND

Announce P. J. Ryan Did Not Speak for Union in Published Interview.

Approximately 300 members of the Washington Plate Printers' Union, Local No. 2, at a special meeting held yesterday, decided by a large majority vote to issue a statement reaffirming support of the American Federation of Labor non-partisan political campaign and announcing that P. J. Ryan, "formerly editor of the Plate Printer and representative of the Central Labor Union," did not speak for the union in a recently published interview.

The executive committee of the Plate Printers' Union issued the statement today over the signatures of William D. Clark, president; Andrew J. Fallon, vice president; Daniel F. Quigley, George H. Herman, James A. Earley, William E. Pike and Charles F. Ladson.

The statement, in part, reads:
"The Washington Plate Printers' Union, Local No. 2, at a special meeting held Sunday, September 13, 1920, considered an article appearing in the Washington Evening Star of September 13, 1920, and in which the press of the country, purporting to be an interview with P. J. Ryan, formerly editor of the Plate Printer and representative of Central Labor Union, entitled, 'Gompers Can't Swing Vote,' the same being a criticism of President Samuel Gompers of the A. F. of L. and the American Federation of Labor national non-partisan campaign committee.

"By a majority vote of this union it has been decided to inform the public through the press that Mr. Ryan did not speak for the Washington Plate Printers' Union, Local No. 2, and that this organization does not endorse the national non-partisan political campaign of the American Federation of Labor."

When interviewed today regarding the action taken by the Plate Printers' Union yesterday Mr. Ryan said:
"The article which appeared in The Star speaks for itself. I did not represent myself as speaking for the union, but as an individual who has been identified with organized labor for more than thirty-five years."

"The prefix 'former' in the article was very distinct before the offices referred to as being once held by me.
The representative of The Star who interviewed me has known me for years and was particular to see that this distinction was made plain."

"I have nothing more to say than I stand by the article."

URGES 'DRY' CAMPAIGN IN INDUSTRIAL CENTERS

Rev. Wilbur Crafts Pleads for World Prohibition at Meeting Here.

Urging the closest possible co-operation by all dry forces of the country in order to convert the great foreign industrial centers of the large cities to prohibition, as the greatest essential to ultimate world prohibition, Rev.
Wilbur Crafts addressed the annual meeting of the National Temperance Council at the Raleigh Hotel today.

He recalled that when the national council was first organized at Columbus, Ohio, in 1913, he, as chairman of the committee on immigration, had pointed out that the quickest way to national prohibition was to be gained by convincing the immigrant, and said that he was now certain that through the immigrants in this country prohibition will be promoted in their fatherlands.

Dr. Crafts gave a detailed account of work being carried on all over the country by prohibition automobile tours, where daily addresses are made to hundreds of immigrants and other workmen in the streets and at factory doors, and begged co-operation in these tours from the members of the council.

Rev. Dr. Daniel A. Polling of New York city, president of the organization, presided, and a general talk by the delegates who represent every section of the country, consumed the remaining time.

The officers of the national temperance conference, many of whom will attend the international congress against alcoholism, which convenes at the Pan-American building tomorrow here, besides President Polling, Rev.
Forster A. Baker, Anna A. Gordon, Dr.
Leigh Colvin, Virgil G. Henshaw and Ben D. Wright, vice-presidents; Ernest H. Cherrington, secretary, and Joshua Loving, treasurer.

STONE FOR SHRINE HERE.

Will Be Laid Thursday by Cardinal Gibbons.

A gigantic motor truck yesterday arrived in Washington with the foundational stone for the shrine of the Immaculate Conception, which will be laid Thursday afternoon at Catholic University by Cardinal Gibbons.

The stone, narrowly escaped destruction in the Wall street bomb explosion, it was stated. The original plan was to have Archbishop Hughes of New York receive the stone in Wall street, near the banking house of Morgan & Sons, at 12 o'clock Wednesday. Through the inability of the archbishop to be present the reception of the stone was postponed until Saturday.

Cardinal Gibbons attended the ceremonies yesterday when the stone arrived at Baltimore. It was then brought to Washington and taken direct to Caldwell Hall at Catholic University. James J. Sexton, donor of the stone, accompanied it on its trip from Stratford, Conn. The truck was decorated with flags and bunting.

The stone is of Milford granite, five feet long, three feet wide and two feet four inches in depth. It weighs 6,000 pounds.

WOMAN'S SLAYER SOUGHT

Mother Found Strangled Near Grave of Her Son.

SOUTH AMBOY, N. J., September 20.
Search was started throughout this section today for the murderer of Mrs. Mary Trembovitz, sixty-six years of age, whose body, bearing marks of strangulation, was found yesterday near the grave of her son Frank in a cemetery near here. Her body was discovered in a clump of bushes by members of the family, who began a search when Mrs. Trembovitz failed to return from her customary Friday visit to the grave of her son, who was killed while in service in France.

There was evidence of a struggle had occurred. The woman's clothing was torn and finger prints were distinct upon the neck. Medical Examiner William Suydam announced, after an examination, that death had been caused by strangulation.

CHANGE IN U. S. INFANTRY.

CAMP DIX, Wrightstown, N. J., September 20.—The 45th and 51st United States Infantry regiments, stationed here, have been skeleton-ized and converted into Philippine infantry and will absorb the Philippine scouts, it is announced.
The nucleus of the new regiments is composed of the commissioned personnel and training cadres of the old organizations, of which the enlisted personnel will be transferred to the 1st Division at Camp Zachary Taylor, Ky., and to the 2d Division at Camp Perry, Tex.

LOOK ON BOTH SIDES.

"Have you seen this side? Pray view the other, too," said Marcus Aurelius, the philosopher king of Rome, the "noblest of Pagan em-perors."

There are always two sides, two points of view. And yet we form our conclusions and make our decisions and pass our judgments without inquiring for or giving thought to "the other side." When we do that we are unfair to ourselves as well as to others.

Perhaps some policy of this store does not meet with your approval.
If so, ask us about it. We'll try to explain our point of view.
